

The Politics of Regional Transit: Lessons from St. Louis and Beyond

Lent Upson Lecture
Wayne State University
Graduate Program in Public Administration

Todd Swanstrom
Des Lee Professor of Community Collaboration and Public Policy Administration
University of Missouri-St. Louis
May 16, 2013

Detroit-Warren-Livonia, MI Metro Area

Transit Coverage in Detroit

The share of jobs in the metropolitan area that are in neighborhoods with public transit service.

ENTIRE METRO AREA

64.9% RANK
63

CITIES ONLY

99.7%

SUBURBS ONLY

56.4%

Labor Access Rate in Detroit

The share of the metropolitan population that the typical job can reach in 90 minutes via public transit.

ENTIRE METRO AREA

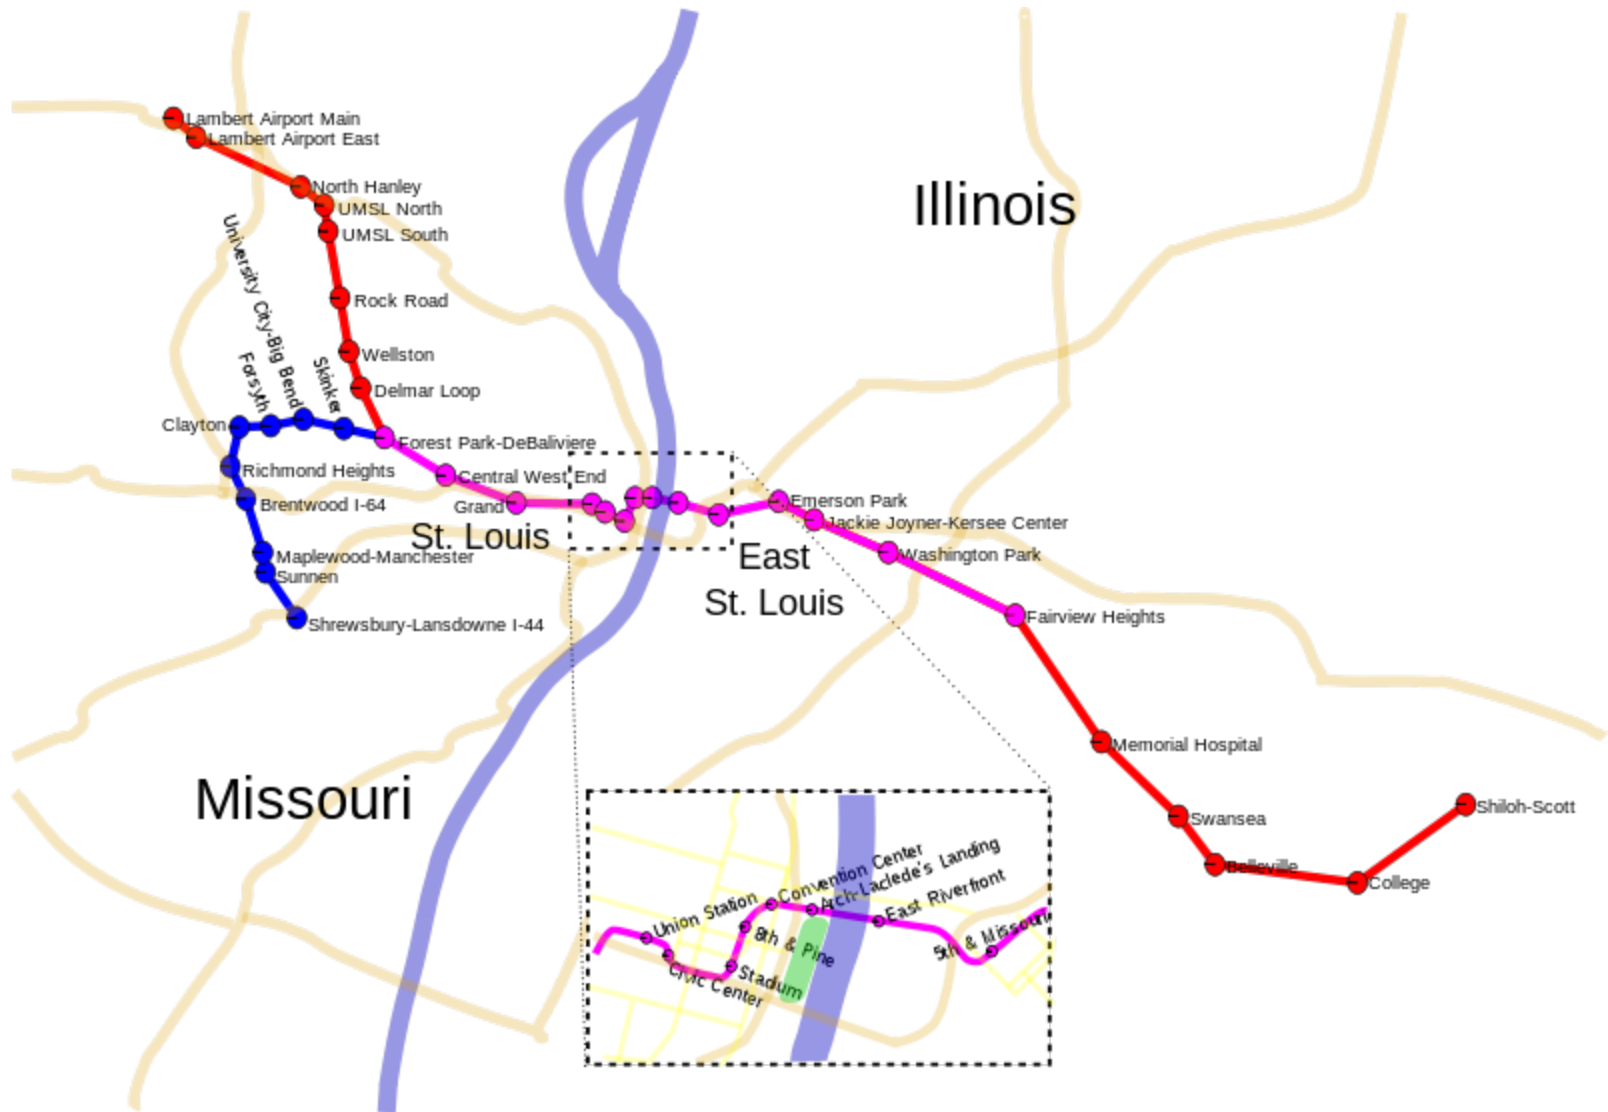

20.0% RANK
71

CITIES ONLY

33.1%

SUBURBS ONLY

14.3%

TRANSIT.

SOME OF US RIDE IT.
ALL OF US NEED IT.

CITIZENS FOR MODERN TRANSIT
cmt-stl.org

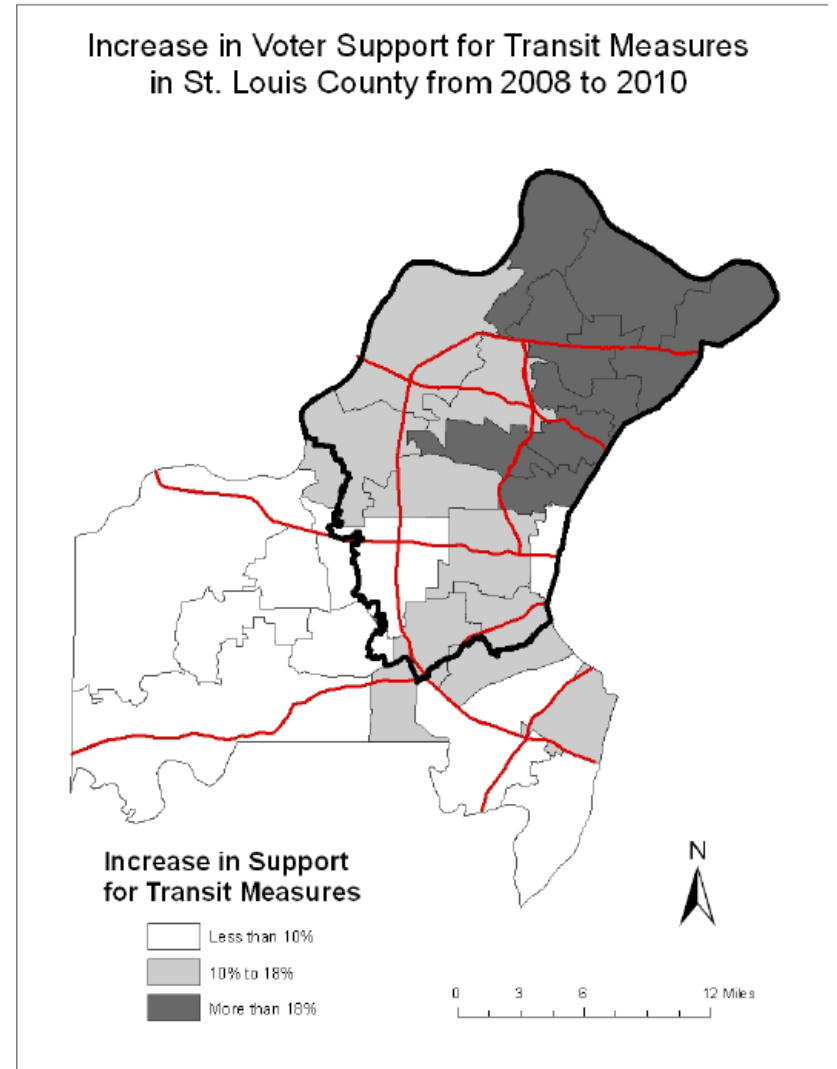

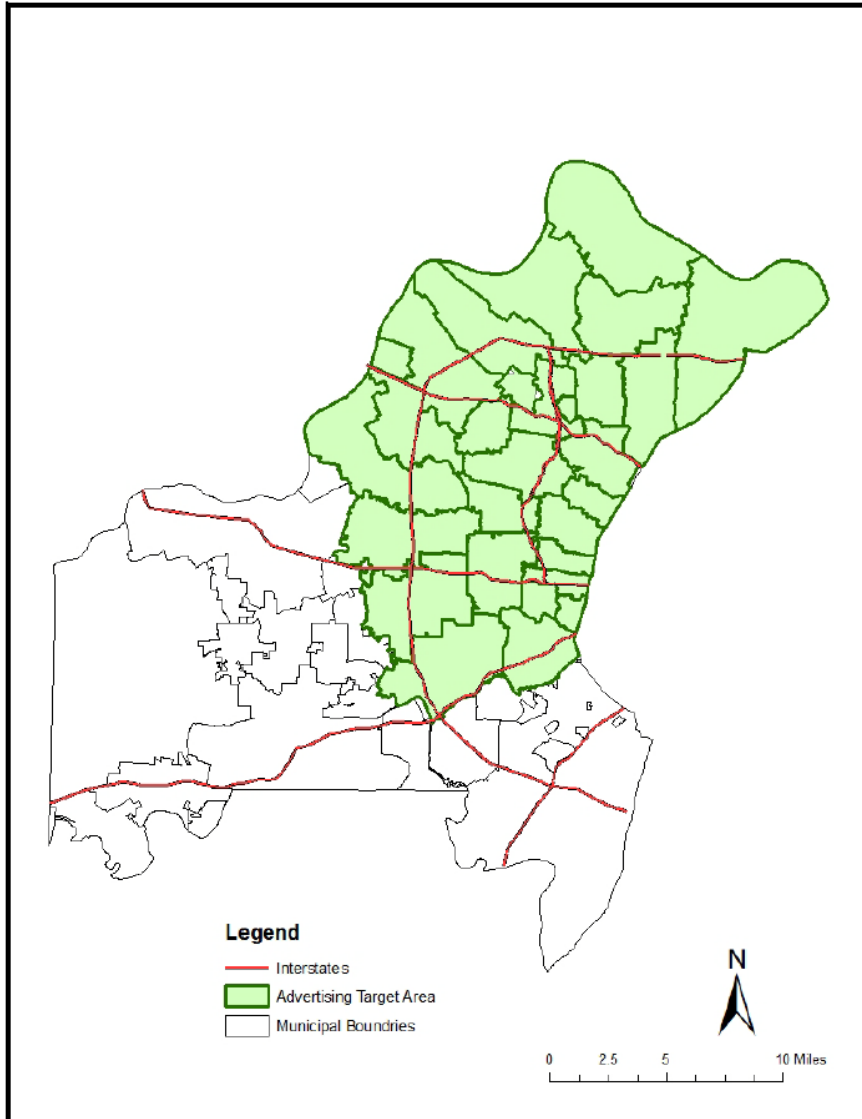

DDI MEDIA

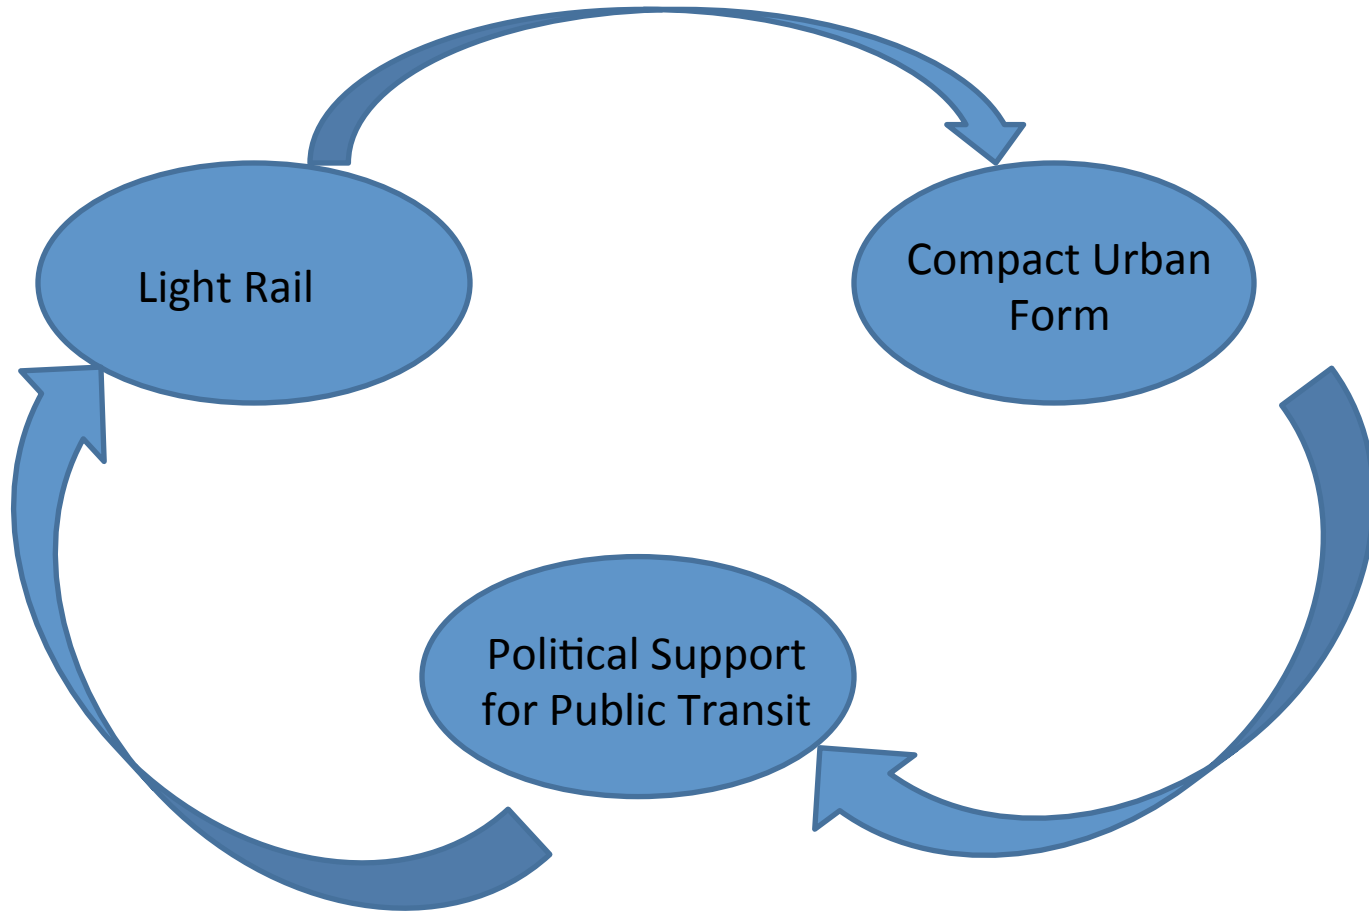

CMT's Educational Campaign: "I Love Transit"

Targeted Turnout Strategy Works in St. Louis

Figure 1: Advertising Target Area

Policy Feedback in Regional Transportation