Wayne State’s Anthropology graduate degree programs provide foundations in cultural, biological, linguistic, and archaeological anthropology. We prepare our students for careers inside and outside of academia by providing in-depth training and research experience in the following areas:

- Applied anthropology
- Business / Organizational anthropology
- Design studies
- Cultural heritage
- Historical archaeology
- Medical anthropology
- Museum studies
- Land-use studies
- Paleo-diet and foodways
- Public archaeology
- Social entrepreneurship
- Urban anthropology

Degree Programs
Master of Arts in Anthropology (MA)
Doctor of Philosophy in Anthropology (Ph.D)
Social Work & Anthropology (SWAN, Ph.D)
Anthropology & Urban Sustainability (T-RUST, Ph.D)

For More Information
Visit the Department of Anthropology website:
http://www.clas.wayne.edu/Anthropology/
Watch our YouTube channel:
Wayne State University Anthropology Department
Twitter: @AnthroAtWayne
Admissions deadlines in October (MA) & January (MA & Ph.D)