2016 SEED Wayne Seminar Series:
Building a Sustainable Food System in Detroit
(UP 5430; HON 4280: CITIES AND FOOD; Instructor: Dr. Kami Pothukuchi)
Wednesdays, 5:30 to 6:50 PM, 0114 State Hall

Seminar is open to the public; prior RSVP to k.pothukuchi@wayne.edu required

Students of the class will get priority for speaking during discussion.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>TOPICS AND SPEAKERS (Titles are tentative)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| January 25 | The Green Grocer Project: Grocer Attraction and Retention in Detroit
Mimi Pledl, Detroit Economic Growth Corporation                                                                         |
| February 8 | Comprehensive Approaches to Regional Food Markets
Dan Carmody, President, The Eastern Market Corporation, Detroit                                                               |
| February 15| Incentivizing Support for Michigan Agriculture
Charles Walker, Elissa Trumbull, Fair Food Network                                                                           |
| February 22| Hunger in Detroit: The Benefits and Limits of Emergency Food Assistance
Gerry Brisson, Gleaners Community Food Bank of Southeastern Michigan, Detroit                                                  |
| February 29| School Meals in Detroit
Betti Wiggins, Office of Food Services, Detroit Public Schools                                                                 |
| March 28   | Just and Sustainable Neighborhood Food Systems
Patrick Crouch, Earthworks Urban Farm, Capuchin Soup Kitchen                                                                  |
| April 4    | From Urban Agriculture to Local Food Systems
Ashley Atkinson, Keep Growing Detroit                                                                                                |
| April 11   | Racial Justice and Self-Reliance in Community Food Systems
Malik Yakini, Detroit Black Food Security Network                                                                               |
| April 18   | Growing Urban Agriculture with Policy and Planning
Kathryn Lynch Underwood, City of Detroit                                                                                       |
| April 25   | Sustainable Food Systems at Urban Public Universities
Kami Pothukuchi, SEED Wayne, Wayne State University                                                                            |

SEED Wayne is dedicated to building sustainable food systems on Wayne State University’s campus and in Detroit neighborhoods through activities in research, teaching, and community engagement.
www.clas.wayne.edu/seedwayne